

Adieu Tristesse! Wieviel Camp steckt in Pop?

Auswahlbibliographie zu dem Vortrag

Quellen

- Amaya, Mario: Pop as Art. A Survey of the New Super Realism. London 1965.
- Booth, Mark: Camp. London 1983.
- Core, Philip: Camp. The Lie that tells the Truth. London 1984.
- Meehan, Thomas: Not good Taste, Not bad Taste, It's Camp. In: New York Times Magazine. 21.03.1965. S. 30-31 und 113-115.
- Melly, George: Revolt into Style. The Pop Arts. New York 1971.
- Newton, Esther: Mother Camp. Chicago 1972.
- Richardson, John Adkins: Dada, Camp and the Mode called Pop. In: Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism 1966, S. 549-558.
- Smith, Jack: The perfect filmic appositeness of Maria Montez. In: Film Culture 27 (Winter 1962/63).
- Ders.: Belated Appreciation of V.S. In: Film Culture 31 (Winter 1963 – 1964).
- Ders.: The Memories of Maria Montez or Wait for me at the Bottom of the Pool. In: Film Culture 31 (Winter 1963 – 1964).
- Steinen, Gloria: The Ins and Outs of Pop Culture. In: Life, Bd. 59, 20.08.1965, S. 72-89.
- Sontag, Susan: Notes on ‚Camp‘. In: Partisan Review (4/1964). S. 515-530.
- Dies.: Against Interpretation and Other Essays. New York 1966.
- Dies.: Anmerkungen zu ‚Camp‘. In: Akzente. Zeitschrift für Dichtung 1966. S. 501-521.

Forschungsliteratur

- Bergman, David (Hg.): Camp Grounds. Style and Homosexuality. Amherst 1993.
- Cleto, Fabio (Hg.): Camp. Queer Aesthetics and the Performing Subject. Edinburgh 1999.
- Diederichsen, Diedrich u.a. (Hg.): Golden Years. Materialien und Positionen zu queerer Subkultur und Avantgarde zwischen 1959 und 1974. Graz 2006.
- Meyer, Moe (Hg.): The Politics and the Poetics of Camp. London 1994.
- Ross, Andrew: No Respect. Intellectuals and Popular Culture. New York 1989.